This book is an advertisement of the First National Bank, Mobile, Alabama.

Additional Data: The stately Bragg home is located in front of the original Judson building and faces South on Springhill Avenue.

This white house, of splendid proportions, and graceful two story columns, inclosing porches, on front and two sides of the first floor, situated in a spacious setting of old live oaks, is extremely attractive.

General Braxton Bragg famous in the annals of the War between the States, lived in one of the buildings of this place, during that period, and afterwards became the owner of the property.

The place has always been owned, or occupied by those who have appreciated its merits and traditions, and kept it in a fine state of preservation.
